After months of searching

Shelter association locates office space

By Carol Dietrich

After three months of searching for a location, the Drayton Valley Shelter Association has found office space for a 24-hour crisis line.

"We've just had a concrete offer," said association member Daryl LaVallee.

"By Mar. 8, we should have a lease and hopefully by May 1 the line will be set up."

We talked to a lot of people, and many wanted to give space, but the fact that it needs to be a 24-hour service caused some problems, LaVallee said.

She added that the location of the crisis line will not be made public but they will advertise the phone number.

The association is pleased to get the location. "We are so glad that we finally got it," she said, "and it will be rent-free."

"We're trying to print a crisis line pamphlet in the future and place posters in places like the RCMP office, the hospital and the post office," she added.

"And we'll try to get on the first page of telephone book."

Operating a 24-hour line takes a lot of people. "We need 10 to 20 people willing to put in two shifts a week," LaVallee said.

"Realistically, at the beginning the shifts will be six hours long and hopefully (later on) we can split them."

She said there will be two phones at their location.

People wanting to volunteer to man the phones would have to be screened to a certain extent. "We would have to make sure people there are capable."

The volunteers would then go through an orientation that would last one to 1½ days, she said.

"I don't think we'll have trouble getting people to work during the day, but the evenings may be a little more difficult."

Right now the shelter association is working on getting its status, LaVallee said, they expect to get it in about a month.

"We're looking at operating the crisis line eight to 12 months and then working on getting a crisis shelter."

Generally it takes 18 to 24 months from the day an association gets its status, to get a shelter, she added.

"But, as soon as possible we would like to develop a transportation system to get people to available shelters in Edmonton and Sherwood Park."

"We're looking for people from the surrounding area to help us."

Right now the association is not asking for money, but simply approaching different groups in the Drayton Valley area. "So far we've gotten good support from the community."

The crisis line is not expensive to set up, she said. "Public awareness is what we need now."

Carnival promises fun-filled weekend

All roads lead into Drayton Valley this weekend.

The occasion is the Chamber of Commerce first annual winter carnival Friday night, Saturday and Sunday.

Carnival chairman Merv Pasula and his committee have contributed many hours behind the scenes in preparation for the town's major winter promotion.

The fashion conscious will have a chance to see what's in store this season at the kick-off fashion show, supper and dance, starting at 6 p.m. Friday evening at the Rec Plex. Models age three to adult will show off spring fashions from Drayton Valley clothing stores. The emphasis will be on casual clothes as part of the carnival's theme, "Let's Get Physical". The four carnival queen contestants will also participate in the fashion show.

The Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club's annual ice show has two performances on Saturday, at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the Centennial Civic Centre. The queen contestants will make an appearance at both shows with the official crowning of the winter carnival queen to be announced during the evening performance.

Free swimming with a number of activities are planned for the Park Valley indoor swimming pool Saturday afternoon between 5 and 7 p.m.

The Drayton Valley Lions Club will also hold a major fundraiser during the weekend with their annual casino in the legion hall. The casino runs Friday 6 p.m. to 12 midnight and from 2 p.m. to 12 midnight Saturday.

The final day of the carnival has something for the entire family. Starting at 11 a.m. at the Drayton Valley golf course, the day's agenda includes snow golf, cross country skiing, toboggan races, log sawing, a pre-school program, bonfire and smooth races.

Due to limited parking at the golf course, buses will be running every 15 minutes from the arena to the golf course and return.

County school board to pay tuition fees

The Parkland County School Board will pay the tuition fees of a Grade 9 student enrolled in an Edmonton French Immersion program.

Mary Tkachuk, newly-appointed superintendent of schools, said Feb. 19 Alberta Education Minister Dave King encouraged the board to pay the fees even though its legal obligations under the Charter of Rights and Freedoms remains unclear.

The province is reluctant to challenge in the courts the right to "fair and equitable treatment by public bodies."

The question of whether French Immersion instruction fits the definition of French language instruction used in the charter also remains unclear, Tkachuk said.

The board's decision will probably result in applications from five or six families involving up to nine students.

Ron Pollock, Division 1 councillor, said he would not support payment of the requested tuition fees because the number of students benefiting would not result in an equitable use of board funds.

Trustee Pat Jordan, however, said the board had to be guided by the broadest interpretation of the charter until it had been clarified in court.

The board's decision to pay for French Immersion instruction not being offered in the county comes after months of correspondence with Alberta Education officials and legal advisers.

A request by Peter Furstensau for payment of tuition fees for his daughter was originally tabled Nov. 15, 1984 pending receipt of further information.

At that time Tkachuk said the payment of tuition fees based on calculations for six students, including Furstensau's daughter, could cost the board $7,600.

In response to board inquiries, the minister of education said the government of Alberta "supports Section 23 of the Charter of Rights and Freedoms and is prepared to ensure, through co-operation with local school boards, the development, the implementation and the assessment of French language educational programs which are appropriate to the needs of the students."

Groups join drive safely program

By Carol Dietrich

Some of the parties interested in establishing a hotel/taxi program (or as it has been unofficially dubbed, the drive home safely program) met Feb. 28 in Drayton Valley.

Valley Cab owner Jim Moser and Royal Canadian Legion representative Linda Thompson joined Black Gold Inn general manager Lance Grosco to further discuss plans.

The total investment per drinking establishment is estimated to be $100 to $150, said Grosco. "It would be a one-time deal."

The money would pay for start-up of the program, which includes the cost of tentcards, donation banks and posters.

If more financing is needed, it would come from the sponsoring group, the Black Gold general manager said.

Concerns about misuse of the program surfaced again. We want to take people from the bar to their home, said Moser. "People wouldn't be able to stop in a bunch of places on the way."

Grosco agreed and added, "We wouldn't be taking people from one bar to another one."

Moser spoke about setting up flat rates for people using the program. He came up with $3.50 in town, $4 to Poplar Ridge Trailer Court and $5 to Country Style Mobile Home Park.

If the actual cost of the trip was less, the extra money could go into the donation bank and be given to the sponsoring group, he said.

"I think the program is a terrific idea," said Linda Thompson, adding that the Legion would likely be interested in acting as the sponsor.

"Even if it's not used that much, at least the program is there," Grosco said.

Identification plan ready to start

By Carol Dietrich

When Drayton Valley children come home from school with a consent form for the operation child identification program, it's important that parents fill it out.

The form will determine if your youngster will be a part of a program designed to place information such as a child's physical description, a photo and a set of fingerprints on a standard form. "If the consent form doesn't come back to school, the child can't participate in the program," said Pat Karbovanec, treasurer of the sponsoring Kinette Club.

Working with the local RCMP, the Drayton Valley club will help record the information.

When it is recorded, the information will be turned over to parents. No record of this information will be kept by any agency, including the police.

The form will simply contain a description, so that if a child goes missing, being lost, runaway, or abducted, parents can assist police in the search by having recent information about the child.

To keep the information current, it is planned to update it every year.

We're looking at working with kindergarten and elementary-aged children up to Grade 6, said Karbovanec.

"But if there is a need expressed for younger or older children, we would look at doing them."

"We plan to start the program the second week in March and have it completed by spring break," she said.

Including the kindergartens, more than 1,100 Drayton Valley children are eligible for the program.

Tomahawk school, also in the local RCMP's coverage area, will have access to the program as well. "I feel if Tomahawk wants it done, there is no reason not to include them," said Cpl. Chris Lee.

The program will not cost parents anything. "Minimal costs of the program will be absorbed by the Kinette Club," Karbovanec said.

She is confident there will be a positive reaction to the identification program. "The younger the child, the greater the response will be."

Though supportive of the program, Cpl. Lee has some concerns. "My concern lies with the affect it may have on children."

"It may be interpreted the wrong way by the child if it isn't approached in the right way," he said.

"The subject of child abuse has been getting a lot of exposure lately. I think individual concerns should be downplayed by parents," Lee added.

"There is no need to go into detail about the purpose of the program."

"Drayton Valley doesn't have a problem with violence against children," he said.

"The value of fingerprints can't be overemphasized. But realistically, in this community, it is doubtful that a case will occur where we will need them."

Changing winter scenes

Wind and weather give a wavelike appearance to the snow drifts in the Battle River hills near the small village of Heister, located in the east-central part of the province.

Program against impaired driving

It's encouraging to see the drive home safely program get off the ground in Drayton Valley.

The idea behind this unique program is to get drunk drivers home safely from the bar and, at the same time, keep drunk drivers off the roads.

Any program designed to reduce the number of impaired drivers on our roads has my blessing. Families who have lost close ones through an impaired accident would no doubt agree.

The Drayton Valley RCMP say impaired driving is up over last year. Hopefully, this new program will aid their fight to keep drunks off the road.

Lance Grosco, general manager of the Black Gold Inn, one of Drayton Valley's busiest hotels, made the program known. The RCMP immediately got involved and since it was first introduced, Valley Cab has added their support and just last week the Royal Canadian Legion said they were interested as a possible sponsor.

But, it has been said from the outset, that if this program was to be successful, everyone had to participate. Hopefully, the other hotels and bars in Drayton Valley will step forth and lend their support to this unique program.

There's a lot of work to be done in this area, so the more people and businesses, the better.

House hunting a frustrating experience

All roads lead into Drayton Valley this weekend for the first annual Chamber of Commerce winter carnival Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Hundreds of hours of planning has gone into this carnival by many people. Let's hope the weatherman co-operates and we all get out and show our support.

House-hunting can be very frustrating. Just ask me.

Our family is still looking for a three-bedroom home either in Drayton Valley or on an acreage close to Drayton Valley, to RENT.

If you've ever been in a similar situation, with the wife and kids still looking forward to their new home, you'll understand the problems I face.

If you have, or know of anyone, with a house to rent, a call would be appreciated.

Circle April 3 on your calendar. On that night Ted Byfield of Alberta Report will be the featured speaker at the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Editor's Notes

On Monday of this week several Drayton Valley chamber members travelled to Hinton for a joint meeting and an opportunity to hear MP Joe Clark speak.

We certainly hope the hotel/taxi program being promoted by Lance Grosco, general manager of the Black Gold Inn, gets off the ground. Limiting drunk drivers on our roads is a serious matter.

The warm weather has resulted in a number of major potholes around town. Slow down and save the wear and tear on your vehicle.

Drayton Valley may have a second swimming pool shortly. That appears to be the case with all the snow piled up along 50th Avenue south. There was quite a lake there last week thanks to the spring-like weather.

It's not too hard to find out how many folks live in Drayton Valley. But it would be interesting to see how many travel in and out of the town every day. Take an ordinary weekday on the Lodgepole/Violet Grove highway about 7 a.m. and you'll see an equal amount of traffic going both ways. And then, there's the people who work in Drayton Valley, live in rooming houses or hotels and go home to Calgary, Edmonton, Red Deer, etc. on weekends.

Leashing the watchdog media

Censorship involves conflict of rights

By Phil Courteselle

The call for more strict reviews on published magazines, books and pamphlets — specifically regarding the proliferation of material sexually, racially or religiously degrading — poses a perplexing question for the government and professional media.

Long-hailed as eternal foes, the government is faced with either leashing the watch-dog media by declaring what is fit and what is unfit for public readership, and, by doing so, partially sacrificing the ideal of freedom of the press, or allowing sometimes rabid and degrading material to be made available regardless of the consequence.

The media, meanwhile, fears any controls or censoring, no matter how specific or how directed, will in time encompass all forms of publication and information outlets — from pamphlets to newspapers to electronic media. The still-dormant 1981 Kent Commission tabled some heavy recommendations on controlling newspaper ownership and garnered mostly negative criticism from those in charge of daily news and publishing, so how would a government establish acceptable controls on the types of information that can be distributed?

The problem involves a conflict of basic rights and freedoms.

Chairman addresses error

Town commission not influenced by mayor

Dear Editor,

I am writing to correct some errors in an article on page 14 of the Feb. 27 issue regarding the local daycare proposal for a new building in town.

The article states that the town's Municipal Planning Commission turned down the proposal after Mayor Bob Mayhew raised concern about the location. This is an error.

In fact, the Municipal Planning Commission approved the issuance of a development permit for the proposal when it was presented to them at their meeting on Feb. 5. I raised the concern about the location at that meeting, and voted against the issuance of a permit because of the location. Mayor Mayhew voiced concern about the proposed location when the information was presented to them at the meeting on Feb. 21.

It seems to be making an issue of correcting a small error, my main concern is this — It can easily be interpreted from the article that the Municipal Planning Commission caters and bows to the wishes and concerns of Mayor Mayhew and that he can direct its actions. This is not true.

The Municipal Planning Commission is comprised of three members of council and three members from the public at large. They are empowered by bylaw to make these kinds of decisions. The mayor, nor any other council member, does not attempt to influence the Municipal Planning Commission in any way.

My concern is to set the record straight and to dispel any belief that the mayor directly influences the work of the Municipal Planning Commission, or any other arm of council for that matter.

Yours very truly,
Charlie Miner, chairman
Municipal Planning Commission

Keep pornography out of the community

Dear Editor,

Are you opposed to pornography?

Did you listen to 'Man Alive' on television Wednesday, Feb. 20? Roy Bonisteel stated that it has been proven the $500 million pornographic industry in Canada has been linked to organized crime.

Did you read Margaret Mead's article in the January issue of Readers' Digest? She stated, "I am totally opposed to censorship but when I consider the vile material that is being peddled freely, I want to see more control."

June Sheppard in the Edmonton Journal stated, "Fear, hatred, and resentment of women is manifesting itself in violence and sadism against women, an attempt to dominate through coercion; if used against any other group in society there would be a public uproar."

Pornography takes many forms; magazines, movies, video tapes, television, entertainment in bars, etc.

Town manager extends apologies

Dear Editor,

I would like to extend an apology to you for not providing the necessary newspaper coverage regarding the Park Valley Pool programs. I also wish to assure you that this pool will provide services to Drayton Valley residents as well as those from the surrounding district. In future, we will ensure that the coverage is available in order that county residents are aware of the pool programs being offered during a specific time period.

We are still in the process of establishing the best way to circulate the programs in the county area. Further discussions will be held with the County of Parkland and the recreation director to determine the circulation process.

Perspectives

how we feel or think within the bounds of certain legislation; we have the right to buy, listen and believe in anything we want to; we have the right to entertain any thoughts and ideals we want to. But we also have the right to protect ourselves from things we consider harmful or that infringe on the concepts accepted as proper and normal within society.

Those against the distribution of "potentially harmful material" use the same "rights" to claim their side of the censorship problem as those favoring a regulation free media.

A man distributes pamphlets arguing the Holocaust never happened and is a hoax created by Zionists. He's branded anti-Semitic, hounded for his beliefs, which, as far as he's concerned, are based on provable facts. He's arrested and put on trial. Yet, the groups opposing his views use the same type of pamphlets and media to denounce the man's claim and promote their own. They're hailed as Keepers-of-the-Faith and True-to-the-Cause.

Whose rights are being violated?

'Does the government say a person cannot express his views via a certain media because they're contrary to public belief? If it does, then most political pandering would become it legal.'

A magazine depicting nude women is considered degrading and charged with not representing women as they truly exist in society and stereotyping women into specific and uncharacteristic roles.

But there are also magazines depicting women as housewives or mothers or aggressive executives which also stereotype women into specific roles but do not suffer the same charges.

How does the government determine which are good and which are bad; which are right and which are wrong?

Does the government say a person — private or public — cannot express his views via certain media (newspapers, electronic, pamphlets, soap-box) because they're contrary to popular belief? If it does, then most political pandering would become illegal; religious evangelists would be breaking the law; newspaper editorials and letters-to-the-editor outlawed.

The problem grows worse as one tries to fit clean-cut answers to not-so-clean-cut questions, ones that deal largely with such unprecise and at times illogical areas as emotion, morality and personal conscience.

If an answer does exist, it lies in the evolution of the media and not with the legislators or courts. If the ways and means of distributing information change, and undoubtedly they will, so too will the problem, be it for better or worse.

What are we teaching our children? That women must be beaten into submission and every woman wants to be raped?

It is very upsetting to see children being used in pornographic photos and film.

Perhaps we will never eliminate pornography but let's try to keep it out of our homes and our community. Let us be silent no longer. Speak out against this so called 'freedom of expression and entertainment'.

Teachers thanked

Dear Editor,

At this point in time, when there are so many beefs about our education standards, teachers' strikes and non-understanding school boards, I would like to present a bouquet to the principal and staff at St. Anthony's School for doing a great job!

I would also like to thank the superintendent and members of the school board for being interested and open to new ideas. I have found the lines of communication open to me at all levels of this school system. For this you deserve recognition.

Council looking for brochure

Where's the new Drayton Valley brochure?

That was the question being asked by Mayor Bob Mayhew and council at their meeting last week. Mayhew wants an answer and has authorized his staff to contact the Chamber of Commerce and see what's happening with the new brochure.

Originally, the brochure was to be ready at the end of 1984 with the latest date being March 1. But a chamber spokesman told The Western Review that the newest date is mid-March.

The chamber's tourist committee is another group anxiously awaiting the arrival of the new brochure so it can be used in promotion of the town.

Project planned for Berrymoor area

Alberta Transportation will call for tenders to carry out a major improvement project on Secondary Road 759 in the Berrymoor/Tomahawk area, Transportation Minister Marvin Moore and Drayton Valley MLA Shirley Cripps announced today.

Secondary Road 759 from the junction of Highway 38, south of Berrymoor, for 19 kilometres to the junction of Secondary Road 624, south of Tomahawk, requires re-construction of the existing road to bring it up to a modern secondary gravelled road standard.

Cripps remarked: "I'm pleased to see this improvement project, one that I have advocated for some time, underway. This project, a high priority with the Counties of Leduc and Parkland, will be particularly welcomed by area residents living between Highway 22 and Secondary Road 770 who use Secondary Road 759 as a major crossing over the North Saskatchewan River."

Moore pointed out: "Improvement of Secondary Road 759 began a few years ago with the construction of a new bridge over the river at Berrymoor. The work on this road, accommodating agricultural, recreational and local traffic, is scheduled for completion during the 1985 construction season."

Makin mill delayed further

Drayton Valley's proposed pulp mill has been dealt another major setback.

Stewart Behie, vice-president of Makin Pulp and Paper of Calgary, developers of the proposed mill, told The Western Review Monday afternoon, "Alberta Environment are now formally saying they will demand a full impact study before they will consider a permit."

"That study is expected to take four to six months."

"We haven't got the time to wait. We need to start construction by the end of June," Behie says.

The letter from Alberta Environment arrived in Makin's office Monday. However, it was not the letter the developers were anxiously waiting for.

Originally, the developers thought the work to proceed would come in January. However, the provincial government ordered a financial study with a Feb. 28 completion date. The results of that study are still unknown.

While Makin has been waiting for the provincial government to make a decision on the project, Behie says his firm has been working on an alternate site, which, unfortunately, is not in Alberta.

Makin is undecided on what to do about the latest word on another study. They're still hoping for some possible word to proceed.

Event in 28th year

Rink wins open 'spiel in 11-5 final

The Ed's Valve Service rink from Grande Prairie emerged the first event winners in the 28th annual Drayton Valley Ladies' Open bonspiel. The rink defeated Drayton Valley's Leila Hottel 11-5.

However, the local Judy Forrest rink captured top spot in the second event final with a 9-5 victory over the Elsie Dusterhoff rink, from Drayton Valley.

Two out-of-town rinks faced off in the third event final. The L. Kelly rink from Slave Lake walked away with a 7-2 victory over St. Albert's Pachevsky rink.

A Breton team finished the weekend as winners of the fourth event final. The Judy Meade rink defeated the Malais team from Spruce Grove 13-4.

Ed's Valve Service won the visitors' aggregate and the Judy Forrest rink took local aggregate.

"We had good competition all weekend," said Wanda Johnson, Ed's Valve Service skip.

"We were struggling for a few games. In one, we were one down coming home, but we pulled it out of the fire."

As a team, this is the rink's third year in the Drayton Valley bonspiel. "We were runners-up for the last two years," Johnson said.

"And this time we decided to come back and do it right."

Our last game was a good one, said Judy Forrest. "We were four up coming home."

"We had an excellent weekend and good draws."

Forty-eight rinks competed in this year's event.

"We had 22 out-of-town rinks and 26 local rinks this year," said draw master Mary Ellis Snell.

"The bonspiel went really well. I think everyone had a good time."

Local rink places second in Alberta

The Deanna Sluchinski rink settled for a second place finish at the provincial high school curling championships in Cold Lake last weekend, losing the 'A' event final to Hanna 7-6 in 10 ends.

The Frank Maddock High School students went undefeated at the eight-rink bonspiel March 1-2 and dominated the first five ends of the final game.

Leading 6-2, Hanna slowly chipped away at Sluchinski's lead tying the game coming home.

"They kept getting one and one and one and then they got one more than us," skip Deanna Sluchinski said.

"We're happy but disappointed (with the finish)," she said.

The rink — which made their first appearance at the high school finals this year and are former junior ladies zone champions — includes Teena Howarth, Kim Bergquist and Jodie Urechyshyn. All four curlers are in Grade 11.

"We hadn't had any close games before (the final)," Sluchinski said. "All the others were close at the beginning and then we built a big lead."

"They were the best team there and that comes from five different coaches, including the provincial commissioner and an ex-commissioner," the rink's teacher-supervisor Gord MacLock said Monday.

In the Hanna final, MacLock said the rink controlled the first five ends by setting up a triangle in the house — two rocks on the side and one at the front — but started having problems in the second half.

"After the break, they began having lapses in control in hitting and staying in the house. We'd hit and roll and they (Hanna) would hit and stay."

Where Sluchinski took three ends out of the first five, Hanna reversed the situation in the remaining ends scoring in the sixth, seventh and ninth ends.

"They did to us what we did to them in the first half," MacLock said.

"(The Hanna skip) did not lose her nerve and was very, very steady. She was just as experienced as Deanna...she called her shots well and her team came through."

The local rink beat Coldale in their first match 8-3 and then Edmonton's Ross Sheppard 7-6. "It (the Edmonton game) was a funny game. We totally outclassed Ross Sheppard yet it was close," MacLock said.

In the semi-final, Sluchinski met Sedgewick who downed Ross Sheppard early in the bonspiel 15-2.

"Sedgewick fell apart and we played a tactically flawless game and beat them 11-6."

Sluchinski won the North Central High School Zone in Hinton Feb. 23.

Comparing the high school finals to the zone and northern playdowns, Sluchinski said: "It's still not as competitive; the competition wasn't as tough as in junior ladies."

Amazons, Warriors finish season

The Frank Maddock High School Warriors and Amazons finished their basketball seasons last weekend losing the conference playoffs to Hinton and Edson respectively.

The two seniors teams finished the round-robin tournament with 1-1 records against their zone rivals.

The Warriors dropped a 25-point decision to Hinton Rockies in their opener and then beat Edson by a similar score. Rockies beat Edson Pacers for a berth in the zone championships this weekend.

The local senior girls missed their zone berth by only four points.

After Edson upset Hinton by one point in the opening game, the Amazons eliminated the Rockies from zone competition 39-29.

Heading into the final game, the Amazons enjoyed a 10-point cushion in the round-robin. The team lead Edson early in the game and were up by five points in the third quarter before the tables turned. Pacers edged the Amazons by four points.

It is the second time in two years the Pacers have captured the conference title.

In junior high school basketball, meanwhile, 20 teams from around the county will converge on Drayton Valley for the Parkland County championships starting Friday and the championship at Frank Maddock High School late Saturday afternoon.

Boys and girls' teams from H.W. Pickup, Entwistle, Broxton Park, Graminia, Tomahawk, Duffield, Woodhaven, Kitaskinaw, Stony Plain, Muir Lake and Blueberry will compete in the two-day tournament.

Last year, the H.W. Pickup boys' team captured the county crown.

Games begin Friday at H.W. Pickup Junior High School and St. Anthony's and continue at the two schools and the high school Saturday. The girls' final is expected to begin at 4:15 p.m. and the boys 6:45 p.m. Saturday.

SPORTSBEAT

by Frank Ryan

The new Park Valley indoor swimming pool in Drayton Valley has some major problems to iron out.

They start at the front door. Even with boot racks the main entrance is much too small.

And, as an accompanying parent or spectator, taking my shoes off at the front door to tip-toe around the water spots in the main lobby, to eventually leave with wet feet, is not my cup of tea.

There also appears to be a major problem at the front desk. On a recent trip to the new pool, the lineup was half-way down the block. And, with good reason. Once inside the door we found just one girl behind the desk taking daily swimming admissions and writing up swim passes. With the pool being so new and busy, wouldn't it be a good idea to have two or more people on the front desk on the weekends?

Another area of concern to management should be the congestion at the front desk. Because people are standing in line impatiently waiting to get into the water, many kids just wander off to the change rooms. This could result in lost revenue as the swimmer bears no tag to say they paid. Sounds like something that should be checked out.

Just how expensive is the Park Valley indoor swimming pool?

To many it's the only pool in town, so they pay. While others will undoubtedly pay, they will not doubt reflect on prices in other communities.

Take the family rate for example. At the Park Valley pool the rate is $350 per year, or if you wish to pay in three installments, it would be $375. No matter how you look at it, that's expensive.

We checked out two similar size communities with indoor pools and found the family rate at Wetaskiwin is $300 per year with Ponoka charging $204.

In Red Deer, a city of 52,000 with three pools, their family rate is ONLY $76.80 per year. Their children's rate is only 90 cents compared to the $2 each I had to cough up here. So, maybe you can see why I think the pool rates are a little HIGH, especially for my family.

On a more positive note, the Park Valley pool is a beautiful place. It's not your average pool. My kids thought it was great, especially the giant slide and the rope. Maybe that's what we're paying for.

Interested in purchasing a junior 'A' hockey club? The Red Deer Rustlers, members of the Alberta Junior Hockey League, are hanging out the 'for sale' sign. Crowds are down this year in the Central Alberta city.

An average of four hockey games on the tube per week is being blamed for some of the loss in crowds. The other could be their $4.50 game admission.

The Rustlers definitely have to go looking for solutions, and maybe new owners, as the present board of directors have been losing money for several seasons.

The very popular Sylvan Lake Summer Hockey School is filling up fast. Camp director Graham Parsons reports that 700 kids have already registered. They can accommodate 1100 kids.

People using shampoo at the Park Valley pool are asked not to take it into the whirlpool. It affects the mechanical system and could lead to a shutdown of the entire operation.

One very popular session at the Park Valley is the early bird swim from 6:30 a.m. to 8 a.m. These new hours went into effect yesterday.

This skater took part in a routine dedicated to Saturn.

Good crowds for ice show

Brightly colored aliens of all types took part in the Evansburg Ice Carnival, March 2.

Some 30 skaters aged four to 16 years, performed to the carnival's theme "Worlds Away". The costumes ranged from asteroids to planets such as Neptune and Saturn.

The carnival featured skaters from the Pembina Valley Figure Skating Club as well as guest soloists. The two-hour show included humorous beginners who had a little trouble staying on their feet and experienced skaters who gracefully went through their routines.

Skating pro Debbie-Joy Hogan from Drayton Valley choreographed the event.

The show's two performances drew good-sized crowds. But the annual show usually does, said Bonnie Perrett, vice-president of the skating club.

"We used to have performances on separate nights and that was popular too."

The club members spend a good deal of time preparing for the ice carnival, she added. They have been practising (specific routines) since Feb. 1.

"The carnival is a family affair. The mothers are responsible for the costumes."

The number of participants in the show is the lowest in years, Perrett said.

"At one time we had 85 to 90 skaters involved."

Big day for Desi Parenteau

Desi Parenteau scored three goals and two assists against the Evansburg Firemites enroute to a 9-2 win for local D.V. Meter last week.

Kent McKechnie scored the winner at the 0:11 mark of the first period off assists from Parenteau and Bryson Kuzek. Parenteau scored his first of the game unassisted at the 5:52 mark of the first period, making the game 4-0 and scored late in the second period and again four minutes into the final period. Kuzek assisted on both goals.

Behind 6-0 in the second period, Evansburg's S. Semenik scored the first of the Firemites' two goals off an assist from G. Brown. D. Williams scored the team's second goal unassisted halfway through the third period.

McKechnie and Barney Reich each scored twice for Drayton Valley, while Chris Enyeedy and Robb Johnston added one apiece.

If you wisely had your crops insured by Canada-Alberta Crop Insurance last year, renew coverage for 1985 right now — in advance of the April 30 deadline.

Call at your district office today to register any changes in crops insured, hail endorsement, unseeded acreage coverage, and other price and policy options.

By doing so you'll beat the seasonable rush — and you'll be protected against all the bad weather risks like those that were so damaging last year. Remember — in 1984 Canada-Alberta Crop Insurance paid Alberta farmers a record $200 Million in crop loss benefits.

Citizen of the Week Rachael Beckett

Several years ago, Rachael Beckett's daughter was hurt in an accident and taken to an Edmonton hospital.

Suffering from internal injuries, Beckett's daughter underwent surgery and required 18 pints of blood during the ordeal.

The blood came from the Red Cross and since then Beckett has devoted time every year to the organization's annual campaign.

"I thought, 18 people lined up to give blood. And if those people hadn't lined up, we wouldn't have a daughter," Beckett said.

"Now that I'm involved (with the Red Cross), I've found out all the other areas they work in...the water safety program, the crafts program."

Beckett has canvassed for the Red Cross for 11 years and is currently secretary for the Drayton Valley branch. She's been involved with the blood donor clinic for the last eight years and in charge of the branch's rural canvassing - which includes areas from Lodgepole to Rocky Rapids and Easyford - for the last three years.

When asked how much time she spends working with the Red Cross during their annual canvass - this year from March 1 to March 9 - Beckett said time wasn't a concern.

"It doesn't matter to me, it's just needed," she said, "and I'm only one of many that gives them their time."

Born in England, Beckett moved to the Lloydminster area with her family in 1980 and moved to a farm in the Drayton Valley area 40 years ago.

Approval pending for trailer park

A Drayton valley man is anxiously awaiting approval to proceed with a 70-unit trailer park.

Dr. T.R. Lookmanjee has submitted plans to the County of Parkland in Stony Plain for the trailer park on his property located south of Drayton Valley.

Dr. Lookmanjee

plans to set up the trailer park on a 20-acre site west of his veterinary clinic.

The matter is scheduled for the March 8 County of Parkland meeting.

The trailer park was discussed at some length at the last Drayton Valley town council meeting and

Councillor Charlie Minor stated, "We don't have any place within town boundaries where we can provide a mobile home park."

Town council didn't have any objections to the proposed park, other than it meet local standards in regards to their sewer and water systems.

Lookmanjee would like to get a start on the trailer park later in the fall. He's now hoping the county will make a decision at their March 8 meeting.

We apologize for the mistake in last week's paper stating "Maurice Neal on behalf of the Curling Club". It should have read "Maurice Neal on behalf of Denco Oilfield. Sorry for any inconvenience.

Invitation extended for Education Week

By Liz Lauer
727-3872

March 4-6 is Education Week. Grand Trunk high school business education classes are inviting the community to participate by visiting their classes in session, using electronic and computer equipment under the 1985 Business Education Curriculum. Typewriting 30 students are hosting the activity, but all business education classes will be open for visitors and a cup of coffee will be available.

The food science classes at Grand Trunk high school would like to invite the public to share a coffee break with them March 7. Morning coffee will be from 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. Afternoon coffee break will be from 2:15 to 3 p.m. The students will be baking fresh muffins, free of charge, along with a beverage.

Evansburg bantams travelled to Grimsshaw for a hockey tournament Feb. 8, 9, and 10. Although the team had very stiff competition they put on a good, competitive show, winning one game and losing three.

Coaches Charles Wapshott and Jim Boyer were proud of the team for bringing home the most sportsman-like team trophy.

The bantams are now entering the provincial playoffs, their first round being against Beaumont. The tea and bake sale sponsored by the Heritage House Senior Citizens' Society last Saturday was a great success.

The proceeds, which totalled $313 will go to the Pembina Lobstick Historical Society to help defer the cost of publishing Foley Trail History book.

The winners of the draws were: Mary Cumming, wooden salad bowls; Bert Hutchinson, kitchen tool set; and Hazel Fausak, a picture.

On Feb. 15, 1985 Jerome Stephen Lewiski of Fort McMurray, formerly of Evansburg, passed away at the age of 88 years.

Jerry was born in Lac La Biche, AB, where he received his elementary education. In 1960 his family moved to Evansburg where he completed his education. He received a bachelor of commerce degree from the University of Alberta and joined CUSO, an organization designed to help underdeveloped countries. Here he spent two years in Tanzania, Africa.

Jerry returned to Alberta in 1972 and went back to university to receive his masters degree in business administration. He later went to work for the Saskatchewan government in their Economic Development branch.

He went back to Africa with CIDA, the Canadian International Development Agency and spent four years as an instructor of finance and business at various colleges and additionally co-ordinated teaching personnel.

Jerry met his wife Lorraine in Africa and they married in May 1, 1981. Jerry and Lorraine returned to Alberta later that year. He went to work with Suncor at Fort McMurray, where he resided until his passing.

Funeral services were held at St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church with Father Doyle officiating.

Besides his many friends and relatives Jerry leaves to mourn his loving wife Lorraine; two sons, Robert and Michael Snalim; his loving mother, Mary; three sisters, Elaine Hall and her husband John of Cardston, Veronica Schroeder and her husband John of Lac La Biche, and Debbie of Morinville; and three nephews. Jerry was predeceased by his father Stephen in 1970 and two infant sisters.

Sympathy is extended to the Lewiski family at this time of family loss.

are invited for the provision of a "Patient Television Rental Program" at the Drayton Valley and District Health Complex. Tenders closing March 22, 1985, not necessarily lowest or any bid accepted.

Read-a-thon nets $1031

Good cause supported

A number of students at St. Anthony school have put their time to good use, learning and supporting a good cause at the same time.

Seventy-four children completed this year's multiple sclerosis read-a-thon.

"A total of $1031 was raised," said co-ordinator Agnes Primesau, a little less than last year.

Recently participants were presented with prizes for their efforts.

"T-shirts, frisbees, necklaces, pins, books and hats were given out."

"And each student received a Michael Jackson postcard." The Grade 2 to 8 children enjoyed taking part in the read-a-thon which raised money for multiple sclerosis research and facilities, she said.

The children are made aware of what the disease is and what therapy is required when they begin the read-a-thon.

"They understand why they are involved."

Alder Flats correspondent misses TV show

By Bernice Johnson

Dina May arrived in the Drayton Valley hospital 5:45 a.m., Feb. 28 and weighed 7 lbs. 4 oz. Proud parents are Brian and Susan Schuette of Alder Flats. Grandparents are Ray and Agnes Schuette and Stan and Evelyn Watson; Clara Schuette of Pincher Creek is great grandmother to Dina.

I apologize for some of my news items being a little late, but I had an enjoyable trip to California from Feb. 13 to 20.

For those who haven't heard, I didn't appear on the "Price is Right" show due to Bob Barker being home sick and so the show was cancelled for the day. That was a big disappointment as that was to be the highlight of my trip.

On Feb. 16 Michael and Pauline Zukiwski and girls moved to an apartment in Drayton Valley after selling their farm to Nelson Lawry from Blackie, AB. We wish them all the best and will miss them from our community.

Sympathy goes out to the Larson families on the death of Frank Hingston, Feb. 25, in Oakville, Ont. Lars flew down to attend his sister Norma's husband's funeral, which took place on the 28th.

William and Mary Zukiwski spent a recent weekend at Toeffield with their daughter Katherine and Marshall.

For those who have been waiting to catch up on who won the bonspiels here, the results are as follows:

Ladies, from Feb. 18-24: the grand challenge was won by the Lil Roos rink from Drayton Valley over the Dorothy Willows rink from Buck Lake. Joan Pruden, Audrey Pruden and Donna Safronovich were the other members of Ro's team.

Ness Trucking took the Alder Flats 19th annual O'Brien's bonspiel. Skipping the rink was Arnold Olsen with Jack Forrest third, Scotty Hare second and Bill Miller lead.

Kathleen Welsh, daughter of Muriel Weber and a third-year law student at the University of Alberta, won the William Morrow essay contest at the U of A law school. She was presented with the $250 award at a banquet March 2 where she was the guest of honor.

The essay, "Breathalizer, Deletion and the Right to Counsel", was taken from a real-life breathalizer case in Regina, Sask., which Welsh had researched thoroughly. The essay was judged by a court judge.

Dates set for second trade fair

The Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce second annual fall trade show will be held Sept. 6, 7 and 8.

It will be held in the Centennial Civic Centre and the Drayton Valley curling club, and the format will be similar to last year's very successful event.

Because of the success of Drayton Valley's first trade show, the same exhibitor booth rental rates will apply this year.

The organizing committee is now putting together a formal 'waiting list' of exhibitors.

Letters have been sent to all chamber members and exhibitors, giving them until March 24 to make their intentions known for space in the September trade show. On Mar. 25 all remaining spaces will be thrown open and available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Paul Spurrell received his award Wednesday.

Drayton Valley man honored

Spurrell earns top Venture award

Paul Spurrell, a 25-year-old Drayton Valley man, has been officially recognised for his volunteer work in scouts and ventures.

During the 1st Drayton Valley Venture Company banquet last week, Spurrell was presented with the 'woods badge' by the national council of Boy Scouts of Canada. The award is in recognition of the amount of time and training he has given to the youth movement.

Spurrell has been involved with scouts and ventures in Drayton Valley for seven years. And, is currently at the highest level an adviser venture can go.

"I have no intentions of moving into another area until we get a stronger ventures' movement here," Spurrell says.

Only four boys, ages 14 to 18, are involved in ventures in Drayton Valley.

Those four ventures, accompanied by two scouts and Spurrell, will attend the national jamboree in July in Guelph, Ontario. They are busy with a number of projects geared to raise funds to pay their expenses to the jamboree.

They have already sold 225 coupon books and will be selling green shamrocks the week of March 11-16.

Drayton Valley's lone recipient of the 'woods badge' is employed by AGT.

A good number of people took advantage of Sunday's warm weather to take part in the annual Wildwood and District Spring Family Fish Derby.

Thirty-eight anglers registered for the event, but many more who didn't enter the derby enjoyed the sun and some good fishing.

Money available

Council has authorized the spending of $16,000 which could lead to several major grants for the Town of Drayton Valley.

Recreation director Dennis Woolsey appeared before council last Thursday requesting $8,000 to do some planning that could lead to a $100,000 grant earmarked for West Valley Park.

Council okayed $5,000 for some preliminary planning on renovations to the arena and another $3,000 to put something together on the old outdoor swimming pool.

Woolsey told council that the exact condition of the arena is not known and the $5,000 was needed to explore the facility. The recreation director mentioned that a grant of $73,500 was available for the work, if the town decided to proceed.

Concerning the old pool, it was mentioned in council that the building would likely be used for storage and the grounds would be utilized as additional parking and playground.

POTTERY is for children

Children, it seems, are the most creative people on the great planet earth.

They build space vehicles that travel to a million stars and sand castles complete with moats and brave knights; they can run a marathon or climb a mountain and do so without leaving their own backyard.

So when children turn their attention — and imagination — to an art form, it isn't surprising their creativity comes along.

"Children have an inborn ability to create and are not inhibited to create" the same way adults are, says Drayton Valley Pottery Club instructor Carol Goretzky.

Nor do children have the same "fear of failure" that can inhibit some adults from pursuing creative endeavors, she explains.

Goretzky instructs about 12 children in pottery and clay work every Tuesday in the basement of the county office. The children, aged eight to 12 years old, are given a variety of projects from which to choose each session.

Pottery is an art form where children can "feel it and work with their senses," Goretzky says. "They can work with a 3-D art form compared to a flat surface (painting)."

While the children's course doesn't involve the same degree of technical training as the club's adult courses, Goretzky says she emphasizes the creativity.

"I give them one specific project (and) offer four other projects per day," she says, "and the children interpret what I've given them to do."

If the project is a castle and one child's creation comes out looking different, it's not wrong, only that child's interpretation of the assignment, she explains.

The children almost exclusively work with hand-modelling rather than with wheel throwing techniques.

The Drayton Valley Pottery Club began in 1975 at Frank Maddock High School and in 1981 moved to the county building. The children's classes began about three years ago and its popularity has gradually increased.

On March 16, the pottery club will hold a "Pot-a-Thon" in preparation for its annual spring sale May 3-4.

David Frost, 12, adds some personal touches to a class assignment.

Adult and children's pottery classes are conducted in the county building basement Tuesdays.

Instructor Carol Goretzky helps out son Jared, 7, during a class Feb. 26.

The children's pottery course emphasizes personal creativity.

Because an assignment doesn't come out exactly right, doesn't mean it's wrong.

Volunteers begin foundation drive

About 45 volunteers will be going door-to-door in Drayton Valley and area this month canvassing for the Kidney Foundation. Campaign chairman

Edith Fertig of Drayton Valley says, "We hope to raise about $8,000 this month."

The door-to-door canvass will cover both residential and business. This is the fourth year for the campaign in the Drayton Valley area. Medical research has brought advances in kidney transplantation to help save more than 30,000 lives. In recent years MORE THAN 3,000 kidney transplants have taken place in Canada alone.

Former resident returns to town

David Becker likes small town life. The new owner of Ink Pot Printing and Stationery in Drayton Valley was born at Carmen, Manitoba, located some 40 miles west of Winnipeg. He grew up and was educated at nearby Elm Creek.

After high school Becker spent some time in the aerospace industry in Winnipeg before going farming for seven years. He returned to the retail/hardware business in Elm Creek.

In 1978 he entered the financial industry, which resulted in a number of moves, the biggest one bringing his family to Alberta. It was while he was working out of the firm's Edmonton office that he first visited Drayton Valley.

Becker spent eight months in Drayton Valley back in 1982. And, it goes without saying, he was impressed.

When the right business opportunity presented itself back in November, the Beckers relocated to Drayton Valley.

"We like small towns. It's a place where you get to know the people better and also get to know your customers better," Becker says.

Besides being very busy with his own business, Drayton Valley's new resident plans to get involved in community life.

His interests include playing baseball, football and hockey. The Beckers also love the outdoors, especially camping and fishing.

His sports career included coaching a junior 'B' hockey club in Manitoba.

Becker is also a former Royal Canadian Legion and Kinsmen member.

Looking at Drayton Valley from the time he originally came here in 1982 until now Becker says, "It's definitely picked up. It's a good market area and it's going to get better."

In his business, Becker's aim is to be competitive. He's also a big supporter of the 'shop local' campaign.

David Becker moved back to Drayton Valley in November.

ABC meeting planned

ABC Parkland, a newly formed chapter of the Alberta Association for Bright Children, will hold a public information meeting on Monday, March 11, 7 p.m. at Horizon Stage, Spruce Grove.

This will be an information evening for members of the public and school personnel interested in the educational welfare of the gifted and talented.

A panel consisting of representatives from the University of Alberta, teachers, parents and ABC Edmonton chapter will be present for a discussion period following their presentations.

Horizon Stage is located at 1001 Calahoo Road, at the west end of the Spruce Grove Composite High School.

For more information call Julie Zard at 963-5765.

Local park to be complete in July

A new park along the North Saskatchewan River just north of Drayton Valley is expected to be ready for use by July.

The Braton and District Regional Recreation and Parks Board are responsible for the development and operation of the new park which will feature 45 pull-through stalls. The provincial government, which has designated the site as a municipal recreation area, is contributing $100,000 to the development and $20,000 per year for the operation.

However, one of the biggest jobs facing the developers is a road, which is outside the lease area. As a result, none of the $100,000 can be used and to date Alberta Transportation, the County of Leduc and Mobil Oil have been assisting.

Finishing touches to the park will be completed when the snow disappears.

The park is one of 10 being developed in Alberta this year.

Policy adopted

The Town of Drayton Valley has adopted a new refund policy.

These are the highlights:

- The full registration fee will be refunded on programs which are cancelled by the town recreation department.

- Full refunds, less a $5 administration fee, will be given when a refund is requested at least one week prior to the commencement of the program.

- Once a program begins, no refund will be given except in situations where medical inability is proven through the provision of a doctor's certificate. In this case, the registration fee, less a $5 administration fee and a pro-rated cost of classes attended, will be refunded. If the amount to be refunded is less than $2, no refund will be issued.

- If a person is inadvertently enrolled in the wrong classification, a full refund will be provided as a credit to further programs. A person will automatically be transferred to the appropriate level, should an opening be available.

Forms available for feed freight assistance program

First news is that the Feed Freight Assistance Program has been approved for both Leduc and Parkland Counties. The forms are now available. The subsidy applies to feed bought between July 1, 1984 and June 30, 1985.

The second news is of special interest to the people buying feed. Everyone knows feed is expensive, but not many people are considering the relative values of feeds. That is, the relationship between energy, protein and price. You may find a more expensive feed is cheaper in the long run.

Let's look at the examples in the feed price comparison table. A word of explanation is in order, these prices are based on the nutrients and prices of barley and soybean meal. These two feeds were selected because their prices are internationally set and not subject to local shortages.

In the table, the prices are listed for 1,000 lb. round bales, tons, metric tonnes, 55 lb. bags or bushels depending on the feed. You will notice that

by Doug Walkley

the alfalfa hay is worth more than timothy hay. This means there is considerably more nutrient in the alfalfa hay so you can feed less.

To say it in a different way, buying clover for $61.74 per round bale is just as good a deal as buying oat greenfeed at $43.24 per ton or oat grain at $1.78 a bushel, or 32% beef supplement at $7.23 per bag.

The message is that price is not as important as value. Next week we'll take a look at some least-cost rations with some of our local feeds.

FEED PRICES BASED ON NUTRIENTS

FEED	COST
Barley	$ 2.60/bushel
Soybean Meal	10.50/kg
Alfalfa Hay	72.08/bale
Clover Hay	61.74/bale
Legume/Grass Hay	63.51/bale
Timothy Hay	40.94/bale
Oat Greenfeed	43.24/bale
Grass Silage	43.01/ton
Rye Greenfeed	41.24/bale
Oat straw	25.50/bale
Oats grain	1.78/bushels
32% Beef Supplement	7.23/bag
Canola Meal	8.34/bag

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Reeve and Members of Council of County of Parkland No. 31:

We have examined the consolidated balance sheet of the County of Parkland No. 31 as at December 31, 1984 and the consolidated statements of operating surplus, equity in fixed assets and capital financing and the statements of revenue and expenditure of the General and the School Funds for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the County as at December 31, 1984 and the results of its operations and the changes in its capital financing for the year then ended in accordance with the disclosed basis of accounting described in Note 1 applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The equity in fixed assets consists of an accumulation of amounts based on the following principles:

- (a) An amount equal to the fixed assets funded from current operations and government grants is added to the equity in fixed assets account.
- (b) An amount equal to the principal repayments on debenture and other long-term debt is added to the equity in fixed assets account in the year of repayment.
- (c) An amount equal to the original cost of fixed asset disposals is deleted from the equity in fixed assets account in the year of disposal.
- (d) Proceeds from fixed asset disposals are added to the equity in fixed assets account.

An annexation transition grant has been provided by the Province of Alberta, over a five-year period beginning in 1982. The grant received was $491,764 (1983 - $655,664) for municipal purposes, and $228,556 (1983 - $304,874) for school purposes. The amounts will be reduced by 20% yearly until 1986, for a total payment of $3,602,097. On formation, the Commission assumed all assets and related debt from the members of the previous Parkland Water Board.

6. Adjustments to prior year's surplus:

In 1984 an amount of $20,880 representing expenditure incurred in 1983 in moving school portables was transferred from the school surplus to equity in fixed assets, as per policy guidelines set down by the Department of Education.

During 1983, grants for Alberta's 75th Anniversary were received. Funds remaining at the end of 1983, totalling $23,779, have been set up in a reserve for future contingencies.

Committee suggests changing County Act

All electors eligible to vote for either a county councillor or for a school board representative will be able to vote on opting out of the county system if suggestions of a provincial committee reviewing the County Act are accepted.

The committee's recommendations also include limiting to a maximum of five the number of councillors to be appointed to the board of education.

A proposed new system of allocating school representatives would recognize to a degree representation by population among the rural and urban areas of the county.

The committee's second draft rewrite of the act was made public at the Parkland County school board meeting Feb. 19.

The draft is simply a proposal from the committee which may require amendment as a result of school board or county council comment.

The document may also be amended from a policy perspective when it is considered by government or from a drafting perspective during legislative review.

Since the County Act was originally enacted in 1950 it has been amended during 20 sessions of the legislature.

The amendments have been made in response to specific issues and have resulted in gaps or conflicting and confusing provisions in the act.

Issues which the committee has addressed in its rewrite include eliminating the rotation of school representatives on the board of education.

Permanent residents of a summer village should be able to participate in the election of school representatives, the committee says.

Co-operation in the joint provision of common services to the municipal and school operations should be encouraged.

In the rewritten act the authority of the reeve is limited and the authority of the council is expanded with respect to school matters.

All school representatives can vote in council on the budget and the voting rights of the chairman of the board of education are expanded.

Council can't refuse to implement a bylaw if anything in the board of education budget requires one.

"The committee anticipates that its report will not be acceptable to those who are strongly committed to the original concept of the county in which the functions of the municipal and school committees were simply to make recommendations to the council.

"Nor will it be acceptable to those who are strongly committed to the elimination of the county system of local government."

The school board and county council have until July 15 to submit comments on the report to Alberta Municipal Affairs.

Council has already opposed a resolution passed at the recent Alberta School Trustees Association convention which supported the concept of separately elected school boards within the county system.

Chrysler Does Not Want To Be the Biggest, Just the Best!

These are several reasons attributed to Chrysler's incredible success story.

TOLSTOY CLASSIC — A new adaptation of the classic novel by Leo Tolstoy about a tragic love affair in 19th century Russia will air March 26 on CBS. "Anna Karenina" is the story of a woman who is bound to a loveless marriage by the social system of that era.

Jacqueline Bisset stars as Anna, who is torn between her duty to her cold, ambitious husband and her passionate love for another man. Christopher Reeve plays Anna's lover, Count Aleksey Vronsky who offers her happiness as well as the torment of ostracism and the possibility of complete destruction. Paul Scofield is Anna's husband who is concerned that his wife's behavior will ruin his career.

CALIFORNIA GIRLS — Where do bored young rebels from New Jersey go to find sun, sand and the woman of their dreams? Why California, of course. "California Girls," a two-hour romantic comedy which will air this season on CBS, is the story of a young man who becomes disappointed when he seeks paradise on the West Coast.

Robby Benson stars as auto mechanic Nathan Bowler who lives in a drab, cold flat in New Jersey. His hopeless life and overbearing mother, played by Doris Roberts, finally pushes him westward. In California, he is introduced to the world of beach-front condos and volleyball.

Richard Chamberlain

games by the sea. A HERO'S STORY — Richard Chamberlain will star in a four-hour NBC miniseries about the true story of Swedish diplomat Raoul Wallenberg, who saved 120,000 Jews from the Third Reich. "Wallenberg: A Hero's Story" will air Monday and Tuesday, April 8 and 9.

The story runs from April 1944 to January 1945, when Wallenberg was sent to Hungary under the guise of a diplomat to carry out a dangerous plan to foil Col. Adolph Eichmann. Wallenberg pulled Jews from trains bound for concentration camps and removed them from Eichmann's death marches.
